Written by Ian McDonald. This guide is a revised version of Educational Institutions: Print Resources (first published October 2000), incorporating some material from Educational Institutions: Digital & AV Resources. We are grateful to Charles Alexander and Ann Grieve for their comments and suggestions in relation to the first versions of those guides. The material in this publication is also derived from Bulletin 67 A Teacher's Guide to Copyright (June 1989), written by Susan Bridge, subsequently revised by Susan Bridge, Gail Fulton, Libby Baulch and Virginia Morrison.

Cover design by Heidi Reiderer of Organised Design, with assistance from Leanne Barnett.

Australian Copyright Council: role and objectives

The Australian Copyright Council is a non-profit organisation, founded in 1968.

Copyright is the legal basis on which most creators earn their income. It provides reward and stimulus for creative activity, and encourages respect for the economic and cultural value of creative work. Without copyright, writers, composers and many other creators could not work professionally.

The Copyright Council's objectives are to:

- assist creators and other copyright owners to exercise their rights effectively;
- raise awareness in the community about the importance of copyright;
- identify and research areas of copyright law which are inadequate or unfair;
- seek changes to law and practice to enhance the effectiveness and fairness of copyright;
- foster co-operation amongst bodies representing creators and owners of copyright.

The Australian Copyright Council has been assisted by the Commonwealth Government through the Australia Council, its arts funding and advisory body. The Copyright Council also acknowledges the financial assistance of the Australian Film Commission.

The Australian Copyright Council is solely responsible for the editorial content and accuracy of this publication.
